There is no pre-arranged group flight to Brisbane. All students must make their own flight and travel arrangements to the University of Queensland. The last date for EAP participants to arrive in Brisbane and get settled into assigned homestay accommodations is March 25, 2012. Late arrivals to the program cannot be approved. Airport pick-up service will be available. Before your departure you will receive more information directly from the staff in Queensland concerning your airport pick-up, your homestay assignment, and other details.

On the morning of March 26 the first group meeting and compulsory orientation session will take place. You’ll receive updated information about the time and place of the orientation meeting before departure. All participants must attend all EAP orientation sessions.

As soon as you have arrived safely in Brisbane, notify the important contacts listed below. If you arrive well ahead of the start date, please notify these contacts upon arrival as well, and let them know where you can be reached in an emergency. (Please be aware that if you arrive before March 25, you are responsible for arranging and paying your own accommodations). If you are delayed by an emergency or circumstances beyond your control, please call your contacts below and advise them of your situation.

Note about Australian phone prefixes:
Australian phone numbers have 8 digits. Long distance or mobile need a 2-digit prefix: 02 (New South Wales), 03 (Victoria, Tasmania), 04 (cell), 07 (Queensland), 08 (the rest). When dialing from the US, use the prefix 011-61, and drop the "0" in front of the city code. For example, when calling from the U.S. the EAP office in Melbourne is 011-61-3-9621-2718.

When you call Australia from the U.S., be aware of the time difference between California and Australia. The time difference between California and Queensland is currently 17 hours (add 17 hours to current Pacific time). The time difference between California and Melbourne is currently 18 hours.
